MEN BLOWN TO BITS WHILE THEY SLEPT

BOARDING HOUSE DESTROYED BY DYNAMITE.

Explosion at Three O'clock In the Morning Killed Three Hungarians and Injured Many More at Wilkesbarre, Pa.—Proprietor Thought to Be Guilty of the Crime.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 29.—A low Hungarian boarding house at Laurel Run, this county, was blown to atoms by dynamiters at 3 o'clock yesterday morning and three of the inmates killed outright, four fatally injured and a half dozen seriously hurt. The killed:

CALLETZ, MICHAEL, aged 40 years, married.

NOWASKI, FRANK, age 23 years, single.

SELOCKY, GEORGE, age 28 years, married.

The injured:

CALLETZ, JOSEPH, back broken.

CATARESK, KASHA, aged 19, one leg broken, other crushed, necessitating amputation.

KRELL, BLASH, both arms broken.

KATZCH, FAHE, shoulder broken and injured internally.

MISKO, UNTZ, legs crushed.

SECHLECK, ANTHONY, back and breast crushed.

URITZ, MICHAEL, abdomen torn.

The fiends who planned the explosion did their work well, despite the fact that part of the plan failed. They placed twenty-four sticks of dynamite under the building, each nine inches long and weighing half a pound. A wire connected the sticks with a battery fifty yards away. When the signal was given only half a dozen of the sticks exploded. They were sufficient, however, to completely wreck the building, not a beam or plank of which was left standing.

The track walker, who arrived on the scene shortly after the explosion, says it resembled a battlefield. Some of the injured were in the trees; others were lying on the ground and under the debris of the wrecked building. One of the boarders who escaped injury made his way to a neighboring shanty and woke the inmates. Blankets and bedding were carried to the scene and the injured made as comfortable as possible.

The boarding boss says he is at a loss as to what prompted the deed. As far as he knows he has no enemies in the world. Some of the boarders think the motive was robbery as several of them were known to have considerable money in their possession. If this was the object of the fiends, it is plain why they placed so much of the explosive under the building. They wanted to kill every person in the place, in order to get the plunder and then escape detection.

One of the wounded men says immediately after the explosion he saw four strange men running down the roadway leading to the village of Miners Mills. They carried lanterns. While he lay on the ground another stranger approached him and rifled his pockets. He also cut the belt which encircled his waist and carried it away. Another of the injured gives it as his opinion the men seen on the ground after the explosion were tramps.

The dynamiters used Pittsburg dynamite, which fact may lead to their discovery, as dynamite of that character is used by the railroad contractors whose toolhouse is near the scene. The house had been broken open and a new battery taken out. An old battery was found nearby. The supposition is the latter would not work and a new was necessary.

Michael Bellakovitch, the proprietor of the boarding house, was arrested and sent to jail. The authorities say they want him as a witness. He had money in his possession and Saturday last told a friend that he was going to the old country to-day.

MINERS NOT LIKELY TO STRIKE.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 29.—W. J. Guyman, state secretary of the United Mine Workers of Illinois, was asked last evening if it was true, as reported, that Illinois miners had another strike in contemplation. He replied that it was not, so far as he knew. The miners in the northern Illinois fields, he continued, were expecting an advance of 10 cents per ton Nov. 1 under an agreement upon which they resumed work after the last strike. If the agreement should be broken he did not know what the result would be.

Guyman further stated that the miners in the Danville district and at one or two places south of Springfield had recently suffered a reduction of 5 cents per ton, but had reluctantly accepted the cut on the advice of the state officers not to strike. Mr. Guyman also stated that miners throughout the state were not working more than half time, hence the conditions for a strike were not favorable.

Myer's wife accompanied him and begged him to remain at home. At the gate Grimme sprang from behind a stable and fired a shot as Mrs. Myer jumped in front of her husband. The bullet went through her right arm. Then a battle to the death ensued, seven shots beiug fired. EMPEROR VISITED BY VONHOHENLOHE

FIRST OFFICIAL ACT OF THE NEW CHANCELLOR.

No Change of Policy Will Take Place —Caprivi's Retirement Now Said to Be In the Nature of a Dismissal—Condition of the Czar Said to Be Favorable.

POTSDAM, Oct. 29.—Prince VonHohenlohe visited Emperor William today in his new capacity as chancellor. As the political position clarifies, the retirement of Count von Caprivi from the chancellorship assumes still further the character of an actual dismissal. The trouble appears to have originated in the emperor's reception recently of a deputation of East Prussian agrarians, headed by Count zu Eulenberg. The deputation was submissive, but the agrarian organs used the reception as proof that the emperor was favorable to Count zu Eulenberg. The latter appeared to be determined to remain in office. Count von Caprivi submitted a memorandum to the emperor Tuesday offering to resign if Count zu Eulenberg remained in office. Being forced to choose between the two, the emperor gave his unqualified approval to Count von Caprivi's policy.

Thereupon as a setoff to the emperor's reception of the agrarians the article in the Cologne Gazette attacking Count zu Eulenburg appeared. Count zu Eulenburg resigned Friday morning. The emperor sent Herr van Lucanus, chief of the civil cabinet, to ask Count von Caprivi whether he had inspired the article in the Gazette. Count von Caprivi replied in the negative, but expressed his sympathy with that paper's views.

The emperor then summoned Count von Caprivi and demanded a public disavowal of the article. Count von Caprivi repeated he had not inspired the article and would not publish a disclaimer because he agreed with its views. He now had no alternative but to resign, which he did. It is now known as a fact the emperor tried to reconcile the personal differences between the two men, but failed.

Prince von Hohenlohe visited Count von Caprivi yesterday. The latter will enjoy a pension as ex-chancellor, but his army pension will be canceled. After a visit to Geneva he intends to take up his permanent residence with his nieces on their estate in Brandenburg. It is expected the appointment of Hohenlohe as imperial chancellor to succeed Count von Caprivi will be gazetted to-day.

The warehouse, which was 700x150, was owned by the St. Louis Terminal (not transfer) company, by whom it was leased to the Jacksonville Southeastern and Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis roads. It cost $50,000 and was nearly new. It was well filled with corn, cotton and wheat in transit. The cars on the side track, which were destroyed or nearly so numbered one hundred and a majority of them were loaded. As nearly as can be ascertained the insurance is about two this of the loss.

As the fire department thought the flames under control the fire about 1 a. m. took a new shoot, attacking an adjoining warehouse of similar dimensions, filled with a large quantity of miscellaneous freight. This was also destroyed, together with a sufficient number of loaded freight cars to swell the total of these to 200. DEVILS COME HIGH AT NEW DIGGINS

PREACHERS PAY $300 FOR EXTRACTING AN IMP.

The Janesville Variety Handled at $30 Each By the Oleopathists Welsh and Devilery Will Not Compare With the Costly Merchandise Controlled By the Revs. Webb, Kamm and Webb.

For a trifling sum, Janesville people could, at almost any time last summer, get a devil removed from their anatomy. The two oleopathists. Revs. Welsh and Devilry, made a specialty of that business, and incidentally a business of that specialty.

Now there comes another phase of the operation.

Janesville people will remember well the work along a similar line that Revs. Kamm, Webb and Hammer did at New Diggins some time ago. They cast out a devil by force from a man who didn't contain one and he sued them for damages. The case was tried at Lancaster and the jury returned a verdict in favor of Rev. Mr. Johnson from whom the devil was removed, giving him $300 damages.

The suit was one of the most novel ever tried. It was brought by Rev. Mr. Johnson, a Free Methodist minister, who until recently preached at Montfort, against Rev. Messrs. Kamm, Webb, Hammer and Endicott. Rev. Mr. Johnson claimed $5,000 for injuries received by him at their hands September 4 last, during a camp meeting at New Diggings.

On that day an "altar service" was in progress, when suddenly Rev. Mr. Kamm and Rev. Mr. Webb became "burdened" for their erring brother, Johnson.

One becomes "burdened" in free Methodist parlance when another's sins are suddenly thrown upon him. The "burdened" person must then, if he would free himself from the weight, manage to get the one for whom he is burdened to repent.

Became Suddenly Burdened.

In the midst of the "altar service" Rev. Mr. Kamm and Rev. Mr. Webb were suddenly aware of the incubus of Johnson's sins resting upon them, and to relieve themselves of the burden and at the same time to do Johnson a good turn, they as once proceeded to drive the devil out of him.

That is what they say.

Mr. Johnson, on the other hand, says it was all an excuse on the part of the other ministers to even up old scores. He says they were jealous of him because he was more successful as a teacher than they were, that they objected to him for being too worldly because he wore gold-rimmed glasses and sported a mustache and a gold watch.

At all events the Rev. Dr. Webb approached him in a fervor of enthusiasm and threw his arms around Johnson's neck. He then either pulled him down or tripped him, and having Mr. Johnson on the ground with his nose in the straw, the work of routing the devil began.

Satan Had Many Advasaries.

Rev. Mr. Webb knelt on Rev. Mr. Johnson's back and began making passes over him, the while calling vigorously on Johnson to repent his sins, and commanding the devil to come out.

Mr. Johnson, according to his own testimony, refused to admit that he had any sins calling for such heroic treatment, and the devil in Mr. Johnson (if he really possessed one) was obstinate, and seemed to prefer Johnson as a residence to anyone else. This much may be inferred from the fact that although the two ministers labored with Johnson and the devil that was in him from 11 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The devil would neither come out nor would Mr. Johnson repent.

At times Rev. Mr. Kamm and Rev. Mr. Webb were assisted in their labors by Rev. Messrs. Hammer and Endicott. Johnson claims that they pounded him on the head, knocked him between the shoulders, spat upon him, and otherwise maltreated him. The defendants on the other hand claimed that Mr. Johnson could have gotten up whenever he so pleased, and that he made no objection to their method of dealing with the portion of the original sin that was in him, and testified that they struck him, and spat upon him.

Several rescues wese attempted by the women present, but thev were each time driven back and warned not to interfere.

He Pawed Dirt at Her.

This was the plaintiff's testimony, and that of his witnesses. One of the witnesses on the stand testified that Rev. Mr. Kamm chased her down the aisle, and that he came after her galloping on his hands and feet and pawed dirt at her. Strange noises, it is said were also made by the ministers engaged in saving Johnson and getting the devil to vacate. One witness for the plaintiff testified that Rev. Mr. Webb varied his shouts to the devil and to Johnson by emitting noises that were mistaken by a pig for the maternal call to dinner, so that he came nosing around as an obedient young pig should do. During the session one of the burdened ministers became insensible. When the attempt to get Johnson to repent and the devil to come out was abandoned, Rev. Mr. Johnson claims he was at death's door. For the resulting injuries to his health the action was brought. All of the parties concerned are men of apparent intelligence and earnestness and honesty of purpose, which would lead one to believe that "gospel experts" and "sky pilots" of that kind are good ones to leave alone.

ONE MORE DAY FOR REGISTRATION

All Voting Places Will Be Open All Day Tomorrow.

The boards of registry will be in session at the several voting precincts tomorrow. Every voter in the city must see that his name is registered in order to insure a vote. The boards will remain in session until eight o'clock in the evening.

FACES.

How They Become Shapened According to One's Calling.

It appears probable that the tailor's distinctive type of face may have been partially created by his habit of working his jaws concomitantly with his shears. Let any one watch a person cutting a piece of tough material with scissors and he will see that the lower part of the face wags in rhythmic and spontaneous unison with the blades. Shepherds and farm laborers who join sheep-shearing gangs certainly acquire a different expression while engaged in this kind of work.

The cast of countenance by which one so easily recognizes a groom is partially explicable from the fact that the muscles which close the jaw and compress the lips are always called into play when we are asserting our will over that of a horse. Nearly all jockeys and other horsey men have a peculiar set of the mouth and chin, but I have been unable to distinguish any special characteristic about the eye or other part of the face.

It is instructive to compare the visage of the ruler of horses with that of the ruler of men. The horseman's face shows command in the mouth, the drill sergeant's in the mouth and the eye. The last is undoubtedly the most effective instrument in exacting obedience from our own species. Here we get a hint of the cause of that want of dignity, that element of coarseness which is discernible in the countenances of some men and women who have much to do with horses. The higher and nobler method of expressing authority is outweighed by the lower and more animal one.

Eggs and Poultry.

According to the census the United States produced 457,000,000 dozen of eggs in 1879 and 817,000,000 dozen in 1889. These figures are probably under the mark. At the figures given, however, the annual egg product of the United States amounts to $100,000,000. If to this we add the value of the poultry sold we shall obtain a pretty high figure for the annual output of the department. One authority has placed it at $300,000,000. In 1893 the entire wheat crop of the United States amounted to 396,000,000, bushels, worth less than $300,000,000.

LIGHT DIVERSION.

"Did Mr. Oatbin seem to enjoy the play?" "Yes, indeed; the orchestra played selections that he could pat the time to with both hands and feet."

Sympathetic Neighbor—And your poor, dear husband has just died? Grief Stricken Widow—Yes. Poor Jim! He was always doing something to make me happy!

"I understand," said Miss Fledgling, "that the baron de Faigue has lost his reputation." "Indeed!" replied Miss Ohlburd. "Well, for his sake I sincerely hope so."

Hoax—That man's a philanthropist. He's the founder of the S. P. U. P. P. S. W. Joax—What's that? Hoax—Society to Protect an Unsuspecting Public from Popular Song Writers.

Bob—What did the lecturer say when you threw those cabbages at him? Dick—Oh, he said he had hoped the audience would be pleased, but he really hadn't expected they would entirely lose their heads.

"We are going to have Mabel very highly educated," said a clever matron, recently. "I don't want to be highly educated," came in the unexpected voice of Mabel, a little tot of five, from another room, "I want to be just like you."

Easy to Cure, But—

Doctor—So your husband is ailing again?

Mrs. Slimpurse—Yes; it's insomnia now. He can't sleep a wink.

"Ah, I'll soon cure him of that."

"Yes, I am sure you can."

"Thanks for your confidence. He is worried about something, I presume."

"Indeed he is, poor man. He lies awake all night wondering how he is ever going to pay your last bill."

H. Heineman, Milwaukee, writes: 'One box of Japanese Pile Cure has cured me of a case of twenty-eight years standing, after being treated by New York's best physicians." Sold by Smith's Pharmacy.

A Temple of Health.

Where vigor, good digestion, appetite and sound repose minister to physical comfort, is the bodily structure which, however much its foundations have been sapped by ill health, has been restored—rebuilt, as it were—by the great renovating tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Nothing infuses strength into a debilitated frame like this saving medicine, which in the vigor and regularity it imparts to the system, endows it with the surest defense against disease, and the best guaranty of a long life and hale old age. Worn out men of business, tired mechanics, overworked mill hands and miners broken down by hardship and exposure to malaria, mariners and tourists all declare that it is the best safeguard against the influences of fatigue, boeily or mental, and of climate and temperature. Incomparable for rheumatic, kidney and nervous troubles.

If the Baby Is Cutting Teeth,

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty five cents a bottle.

THE TIMES CORPSE DUG UP ONCE MORE

CREDITORS POKE IN THE GRAVE FOR CASH.

Failing to Get Their Pay For Supplies Furnished to the Child Born of the Roster Roosters, They Sue the Stock Holders Individually to Recover.

Just how the creditors of the defunct Milwaukee Times, whose birth was the realization of the pet scheme of the "roster roosters" and whose demise was their death knell are to get their pay for supplies furnished the company "on tick," is a mystery. The $125,000 corporation organized on state money to publish that paper having become bankrupt, the individual stockholders, including a number of active democratic workers, have been sued individually for the money.

Among the stockholders was "Judge" D. S. Rose, who until a few days ago (when the Onyx fraud was unearthed) thought he was going to be elected to congress. His testimony in the suit is interesting. He testified that the company was incorporated in September 1893, and the subscribers to the stock were C. L. Clark, $48,000; W. C. Donavan, $5,000; J. W. Murphy, $1,000; J. E. Malone, $1,000 Goorge R. Mahoney, $1,000; Herman Fehr, $1,000; D. S. Rose, $1,000; Peter Mulholland, $2,000 or $2,500; D. T. Phalen, $1,000 or more; Paul J. Foley $1,000; Edward Keough, $500. R. G. Kirsch, $500; Leopold Hammel, $200 or $300; V. W. Seely, $100; Roman Czerwinski, $100; making between $64,000 and $65,000 altogether. It was understood that $8,000 of the stock subscribed by Clark was to distribute among other parties, but he subscribed for it absolutely.

How Col. Clark Got the Stock.

"All subscriptions were payable in cash except that of Clarence L. Clark, which was payable in property. Upon the evening when the meetings were held Colonel Clark made a proposition to the corporation that he would convey to it the plant and outfit of the Madison Times, together with its good will, free from incumbrance and the franchise of the United Press, in payment of his stock subscription of $40,000. This was submitted to a committee, which after a consultation reported that the property was worth $40,000. Their report was accepted and was made the basis for the $40,000 stock issued to Clark. It was understood at that time that The Madison Times had a circulation which could be transferred to The Milwaukee Times of about 5,000 subscribers, including about 1,500 in Madison. The United Press franchise has been held here at $25,000, by The Sentinel company.

Sold the Whole Thing.

"Mr. Cottrill as president and Mr. Mulholland as setretary signed the certificates of stock issued to Clark and he transferred the properity. The bill of sale covered the plant of The Madison Times as well as the United Press franchise. Everything belonging to the company was turned over to Mr. Mulholland, the secretary of the company. The value was arrived at partly from an investigation of it and partly from statements made by Mr. Clark. It was generally considered that the corporation was receiving fully $40,000 worth of property for the $40,000 in stock."

"Of which $25,000 was the Press franchise?"

"There was no separate value placed upon that; everything was talked of together. I made some inquiries in regard to Clark's ownership of the property. I understand that the newspaper at Madison was run by a corportion. I pid not understand how Mr. Clark had a right to convey it, but I made inquiries of some parties who told me that Mr. Clark had the right.

Rose's Heart Was Broken.

"Did any of the rest of the subscribers pay anthing?"

"I know one that did. It broke my heart."

"How much did you pay?"

"I paid for it in full. I paid $674 before the receiver was appointed and the balance I paid to the receiver."

"Was it understood at the meeting that the United Press people were to be paid, any cash bonus for their franchise?"

"It was never talked over. Mr. Clark was to give that to us, it didn't make any difference to us whether he stole it or how, as long as he got the franchise.

Upon the dates of the subscriptions Rose's testimony was very hazy.

"The large ones," he said, "were the first to subscribe, We sort of got down to the emptyings, we got the body in the bowl, then we put on the effervescence."

"Were you in the body of the effervescence?"

"I was in the soup."

"Then you were among the first subscribers?"

"I was somewhere at the head of the procession. It was generally understood by everybody who subsbribed that the company was incorporated for the purpose of taking The Madison Times plant, and that Mr. Clark was to be the manager. He was then regarded as an absolutely safe man, full of energy and ability. Everybody had implicit confidence in him."

ODD CLUB OF THIRTEEN TEACHERS

Professor D. D. Mayne Belongs to a Queer and Uncanny Organization.

It is rather a strange and mysterious organization that Prof. D. D. Mayne belongs to. It is called the Wisconsin School Masters' Club and its thirteen members at Milwaukee Saturday held their annual meeting and banquet. The club was organized six years ago, and was the outgrowth of an informal meeting of a few teachers in the western part of the state who came together to discuss matters pertaining to their work and concluded to have a permanent organization. The membership of the club is limited to thirteen. The constitution expressly forbids any formality in or preparation for the meeting. The members of the club are Professor E. D. Harvey of the Milwaukee Normal; President T. B. Bray and Professor Sylvester of the Stevens Point normal; Superintendent R. B. Dudgeon of Madison; Superiniendent J. E. N. Collins of Baraboo; Superintendent H. L. Terry of Waukesha. Superintendent John Livingston of Sparta; Professor W. S. Atwell of Rochester; Superintendent H. L. Halsey of Oshkosh; Professor L. H. Clark and Professor J. L. Brier of River Falls; Charles Harper of Lancaster, and Professor D. D. Mayne of this city.

MR. GALBRAITH TALKS TO FARMERS

Horse Interests Will Be His Theme at the Institute Campaign.

A Janesville man gets warm words in The Breeder's Gazette which says: "George McKerrow, Superintendent of Wisconsin Farm Institutes, is very fortunate in having secured the services of Alexander Galbraith of Janesville, to represent the horse interests at the institute campaign this season. While Mr. Galbraith has been closely identified with draft and coach horse importation and breeding, he has also been one of the closest students of horse breeding in all its phases, and none is more thoroughly posted in all branches of the industry."

LIVING WITHOUT HEADS.

A Fly May Survive After the Head Is Removed.

To go about the usual affairs of its daily existence minus a head would appear to be a rather unsatisfactory business, but this is precisely what certain insects seem capable of doing. Experiments have been made with common house flies, with the curious result that thirty-six hours after decapitation the bodies were seemingly as lively as ever. The bodies of butterflies have lived eighteen days after the heads were cut off. On the other hand, the heads soon lose all signs of vitality, rarely showing any indications of consciousness after six hours. Whether the spinal cord and column do not extend above the shoulders of these insects, or whether there is some error in the theory that the severance of the spinal cord is fatal, would seem to be debatable ground. There are fishes that have a peculiar tenacity to life. If the head of the common fresh water catfish or bullhead is cut off immediately after the creature is taken from the water, its heart will be found to beat for some time.

A FIRE BUG BURNED BARN AND HORSE.

CRUEL BLAZE AT W. G. WHEELOCK'S HOME SUNDAY.

Smoke From a Blaze that an Incendiary Probably Started Suffocated the Animal Before Help Came—Loss Will Be Several Hundred Dollars But Is Covered By Insurance.

As the result of an incendiary's work, probybly, W. G. Wheelock's handsome barn on East street, near South Second street, was partly destroyed by fire Sunday morning and a valuable family horse was suffocated before the blaze was discovered. The alarm was turned in from box 34 at 5:30 o'clock by District Attorney W. G. Wheeler, who resides on the corner of Eart and South Second streets, near the barn. Mrs. Wheeler was awakened by the stifling smoke and aroused her husband The fire had evidently been burning for several hours, as the barn was tightly closed and the whole of the west end was flaming when it was discovered. The department made quick work in extinguishing the fire, most of the contents in the front part being removed in good condition. The loss will amount to several hundred dollars, as the barn was well built with a slate mansard roof. There was an insurance on the barn of $1,200 with the agency of Silas Hayner.

THE GOTHAM MILLIONAIRE.

The Fuss He Makes in Moving His Household Around.

When a great millionaire moves nowadays the event takes on a character that is not distinguished by Jeffersonian simplicity, says the New York Sun. When Mr. Webb gets tired of Vermont and takes his family to Newport or Narragansett, or Mr. Vanderbilt moves from one of his country houses to another, or the Astors leave the Hudson for Rhode Island, the sightseers are interested. Mr. Webb has one house at Newport and another at Narragansett, which is across the bay. The Narragansett house is used for governesses, servants and children, and is a convenient place to stop when one of the Webb yachts runs across from Newport.

When a great millionaire moves the family is usually stored away in a special car which is hitched to the tail end of an express train and shifted from one road to another, so that no changes are necessary. The stable is transported with the coachman driving a four-in-hand loaded down with stable trappings. Following him is another man with a victoria and brougham swathed in clothes to protect them from the dust, and dog carts and village carts and phaetons, driven by the stable boys, bring up the rear with hunters and saddle horses. The big and little yachts are towed along from one place to another in a similar fashion, to the delight of the sight-seers, and discussions upon the wealth of the millionaire are stimulated all along the route.

Jim Was a Dandy.

Cyrene, who dances with much fervor and grace is an exceptionally moral young woman. During a recent engagement in Philadelphia, she was leisurely strolling along a quiet thoroughfare, and came upon two street urchins who were endeavoring to destroy the features of each other's faces. Cyrene after parting the youngsters, spoke to the larger one.

"This is shameful, a great big boy beating such a little fellow. Don't you go to Sunday school?"

"Yes'm."

"Do you learn to fight there?"

"No'm."

"Do you swear and say bad words?"

"Well, I ain't much on it myself, but Jimmy dere's a dandy. Cuss fer de lady, Jim."—Truth.

Advertising Novelties.

Advertising novelties are always springing up, and according to the new ideas conveyed by them are interesting as well as efficacious. A man uptown has the following sign in front of his establishment: "Wind—Five cents." He simply has gone into the business of inflating the pneumatic tires on bicycles. Another party has a pair of shoes in his show window. On a card underneath them are neatly pasted three one dollar bills, with the inscription: "Three of a kind beat a pair." Such advertisements are doubly valuable, because everyone remembers them and talks about them. —Hardware.

AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHERS.

They Excel in Finding and Producing Artistic Effects.

The study of artistic effect in photography has undoubtedly received of late a great advance in the work of amateurs, and nowhere has this been more noticeably shown than in exhibitions where both the work of the amateur and the professional have been placed side by side; and in the great numbers of cases the work of the amateurs has taken the highest honors for artistic effect. The education of the eye for artistic effect is the one educational point of amateur photography upon which I lay the most stress, because I think it is shown in amateur work in the highest degree. While speaking of the artistic education involved in the study of photography, the subject of portrait work must not be omitted, although it is a branch less practiced successfully by amateurs, on account of the difficulties surrounding it, because the amateur must first produce his models, and then if he wishes to produce artistic effects, a studio with good light is necessary.

But this is perhaps the most fascinating branch of photographic work for the amateur; he is not confined, as a rule, by the thoughts of how many dollars and cents he is losing on every plate used and spoiled, which to the professional photographer means just as many dollars lost from a business standpoint. There is opened up to him the wide range of study afforded by the human face in all its different moods and expressions, and he will find that unconsciously he is making a study of faces and observing them even while walking on the streets. Let hundreds of people pass him on the sidewalk without apparently noticing them, and then instantly, perhaps, some one with a peculiar feature will arrest the attention, showing how unconsciously he has been observing faces and forms, and while pursuing this branch, the amateur is led off into the study of drapery, dress, and then comes the combination of figures in groupings, genre work and other branches, each one of which might call for a lifetime of study.

PAINT cracks.—It often costs more to prepare a house for repainting that has been painted in the first place with cheap ready-mixed paints, than it would to have painted it twice with strictly pure white lead, ground in pure linseed oil.

Strictly Pure White Lead

forms a permanent base for repainting and never has to be burned or scraped off on account of scaling or cracking. It is always smooth and clean. To be sure of getting strictly pure white lead, purchase any of the following brands:

The attack of the democratic party on Major Upham is so destitute of sense, or anything else to recommend it that it falls flat.

The men who live in Marsfield and who are, or have been in the employ of Mr. Upham, are the only men interested in the question, and the man of this class is yet to be found who has a word of complaint to offer. There are 10,000 democrats in the state who haven't had a month's work or a dozen square meals since they helped elect a president, who would be glad to go to work for Mr. Upham tomorrow, and take their chances on pay.

Rock county democrats have been contemplating a sewer so long that they find it difficult to talk about anything else. They seem to have forgotten even that they have a candidate for the assembly in the Third district, a very worthy man by the name of Zinck, whose principal occupation after the 6th of November, will be trying to extricate himself and his party from the sewer.

Two years ago the McKinley bill made it possible to manufacture tin plate in this country, and within twelve months from its passage forty plants were in successful operation, employing 10,000 men at good wages. The Wilson bill has turned the key in every one of these factories and America labor suffers as the result.

When Major McKinley spoke in Philadelphia two years ago to the laboring men, asking them to vote for protection in the interests of labor, a man in the gallery interrupted him with the question: "How about eight hours a day." The question of importance now is, "How about any hours a day?"

The Nebraska farmer who said he voted for free wool two years ago, and came within five cents of it, when he sold his wool the other day for five cents, says he will vote the republican ticket this year. A good many Wisconsin farmers will do likewise, because of a similar experience.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

Austin Corbin's park in the New Hampshire mountains contains 25,000 acres, all inclosed with a stout wire fence, fastened to posts of timber and iron, that the most powerful and ferocious animal could hardly undertake to break through.

A balloon is a rapid vehicle when it travels in the right direction. One sent up at Berlin recently by Arthur Bevore rose to the height of 23,000 feet, traveled at the rate of sixty-five miles an hour for about twenty hours, and then came down unharmed.

Mrs. Isabella Bishop, who left England some months ago to travel in Corea, finds the native money very unhandy. More than 3,000 "cash" go to the half dollar, and one wants to hire a horse to get $10 worth of it home. No one wants much cash on hand in Corea.

The Turkish government has ordered the aqueducts of Solomon in Jerusalem to be put into repair. They will bring water into the city from the fountains of Arroul. A tunnel 4,000 yards long will be built at the cost of £400,000. The aqueduct was still in working order in the time of Christ.

When the St. Clair tunnel at Port Huron, Mich., was first considered it was proposed to build the tunnel wide enough for two tracks, but it was found that two single track tunnels would be cheaper, and one of them would sooner be available for traffic. Experience has proved that the second tunnel will not be required for a long time. The largest number of freight cars passed through in twenty-four hours during the two years the tunnel has been in use was 1,015, while 2,500 could be handled if occasion required. The average number is 700 in winter and 500 in summer.

OUT OF THE ORDINARY RUN.

The three Winter brothers of Berks, Pa., whose combined ages make 270 years, are outdone in this respect by three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Ewing, aged 92, Mrs. Elizabeth Zell, 94, and Mrs. Martha Morrison, 97, who live at Lancaster, Pa.

Three evangelists who are working in the coal regions near Scranton, Pa., recently held a revival meeting for the miners of the Ontario mine under uncommon circumstances. It was at the bottom of the shaft. Slips of paper with the words of hymns printed upon them were handed around, and the miners, gathered in the gloom of the mine, joined heartily in the service of song.

A party of ten went ghost hunting in an old churchyard at Providence, R. I., the other night. Each was armed with a gun. They had no sooner secreted themselves behind tombstones than a strange noise was heard. Instantly each hunter discharged his weapon in the air and took to his heels for home. One, in his terror, ran into a barbed wire fence and was seriously injured.

A dispatch says that a man fell asleep on the bridge across the Delaware at Lambertville the other night, and dreamed he was in his bedroom at home. While thus dreaming he began to divest himself of a portion of his clothing, and then, instead of creeping into bed, as he imagined, he actually crawled out of one of the windows of the bridge and fell a distance of more than fifty feet to the water below.

Snake Mountain.

There is a horse-shoe-shaped mountain in Manitoba which literally swarms with snakes twice every year. In the early autumn those slippery customers gather there from all directions, mostly from the prairie country of the South. In one side of the mountain there is a circular hole about fifteen feet deep, and as smooth as if it had been fashioned with an auger, where tens of thousands of reptiles spend the cold winter months together. Persons who have tried to explore this immense snake den during the summer, when the regular tenants are absent, say that dozens of subterranean passages lead out under the mountain in all directions from the bottom of the well. An authority estimates that he has seen 300,000 snakes of all sizes knotted together and piled up in a semi-torpid state in this "Well of Serpents," as it is called in the Northwest.

BABE GIVEN AWAY BY A BAD MOTHER

WAIF LEFT ON F. W. SHULTZ' DOORSTEP AT NIGHT.

Child Was Curled Up In a Basket that Also Contained a Goodly Supply of Clothing—Its Cries Awoke Mr. Shultz Who Took the Little One In.

AN unnatural mother prowled about the Second Ward before dawn Sunday morning and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Shultz, 156 Caroline street are a baby ahead in consequence. The family were aroused at 4 o'clock by the cries of a little baby, and Mr. Shultz immediately began to explore the premises finding a basket on the front door step, in which was cuddled a two weeks' old girl baby. The basket contained a good supply of clothing for the little waif, but no clue was left as to who it belonged. Mr. Shultz took the little one into his home, and then notified Postmaster Kenyon who took the little one in charge. The police think they know who the child belongs to.

PATROLMAN JOHN W. HOGAN attended a democratic rally in the town of Porter Saturday evening, and while at the meeting was taken very sick. BLEW A SAFE OPEN FOR LITTLE PAY

BOLD ROBBERS WORK ONCE MORE AT ORFORDVILLE.

They Get Little Plunder Except What Cutlery there Was In Stock But Escaped Leaving No Clue—Three Disorderly Drunks of Various Propensities Before Judge Phelps.

Rock county's gang of cutlery thieves are still working in the smaller towns about Janesville and for the third time within a few weeks they have visited Orfordville. The last time they were there they carried away about half the contents of the store in a wagon. This time they were satisfied to simply blow open the safe and carry away all the cutlery in sight. Chief Acheson was notified of the burglary but the details sent him were meagre.

Three disorderly drunks were introduced to Judge Phelps today. The first one was Thomas Regan of Beloit, who was released from jail on Saturday, after serving for thirty days for stealing a gun from Father Ward of Beloit. He had no sooner been set at liberty than he made straight for a saloon, and before night insisted that he was master of the situation. He spent Sunday with Sheriff Bear, and this morning he was adjudged guilty of the charge, and was given ten days.

Otto Gierke, a farm hand, was the second individual. Otto had been husking corn, and came to the city Saturday to spend Sunday and have a little "fun with the boys." He was a guest of the sheriff over Sunday, and said this morning that it was not as funny as he had anticipated. He did not desire to spend a term in the county jail, promising the court that he would not bother the officers again, so he was forgiven.

Richard Barry, Jr., whose sisters say they have to support him, was confronted this afternoon with a charge of being a vagrant. Sunday morning Richard was discharged from jail and straightway filled up and commenced war, driving the family out of the house. This morning the elder Richard secured a warrant but repented and upon paying costs, the court dismissed the case.

James A. Bradley pleaded guilty this afternoon to the larceny of James H. Burns' overcoat, whereupon Judge Phelps sentenced Bradley to tairty days on the county wood pile.

STOOD 'NEATH WEDDING BELLS.

Campion-Donahoe.

Michael Campion and Miss Kate E. Donahoe were married this morning at half-past eight o'clock. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends at St. Patrick's church to witness the ceremony which was performed by Dean McGinnity. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Joseph Donahoe of the town of Plymouth, and the groom is a son of James Campion of the town of Harmony. They were attended by Lawrence Campion, brother of the groom and Miss Maggie Donahoe, sister of the bride. A wedding reception was afterward held at the home of the bride's mother where the relatives had a very enjoyable time.

Merz-Dew.

Miss Elsie Maud Dew, formerly of this city, but more recently of Chicago, and Richard Merz of that city, were married last Thursday and will be at home after December 1, at 972 Park avenue. Many friends will wish the bride and her husband much joy. The groom is the proprietor of a drug store in the World's fair city.

Yeomans of this city returned this morning from Peshtigo river country bringing with them fourteen deer, which they killed during their two week's hunting expedition. LAY DOUBLE TRACK THROUGH THE TOWN

JANESVILLE WILL BE ON THE C. & N. W'S. BIG LINE.

It Is Now Practically Conceeded that the Company Will Extend the Two Track Line From Howard to Elroy, Taking Janesville and All the Intervening Cities.

That Janesville will soon be on the "double track line" of the Northwestern between Chicago and St. Paul is now conceded. The Northwestern railroad has gangs of men at work laying track and building double bridges on the Madison division, and it is said that double track will be built from Elroy to Harvard, passing through the Bower City. The double track from Chicago to Harvard is now laid.

Magazine of Dynamite Exploded.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Oct. 29.—An explosion occurred yesterday morning that broke a number of plate glass windows in business houses and residences. The magazine belonged to J. R. Sharp, dealer in hardware, situated in the southwestern suburbs of the city, exploded. The magazine contained about 1,000 of dynamite and a large quantity of powder. The cause of the explosion is a mystery.

Mexico's Greatest Need.

Says an American business man who has been living in Mexico. "What Mexico most needs is education. The ignorance of the peons is astonishing. If the great churches of America, which are yearly sending millions of dollars to China and Africa to educate the heathen there, would devote a fair portion of that money to Mexico, far more good would be accomplished. The money would be better spent and results more apparent. The few missionaries in that country are doing good, but their number is not sufficient. Then, less theology and more liberal education should be taught, and sectarianism should not interfere with the work. Strange as it may seem, the English tongue has displaced the French as a foreign tongue, and is rapidly being learned by the younger natives."

FEMININITIES.

It never pays to send the children into the street to get quiet in the parlor.

The Greek church employs two rings, one of gold the other of silver, in the marriage ceremony.

"My darling," whispered the Chicago man. "My life," she murmured. "You are the only wife I ever loved."

Of late years Madame Alboni, the great contralto, who died in Paris recently, had become so fat that she could not walk without the assistance of two strong men.

Mrs. Hicks—Are you sure that you married me for myself alone? Hicks—Of course. Having your mother to live with us was not strictly an idea of mine.

Bride—George, dear, when we reach town let us try to avoid giving the impression that we are newly married. George—All right, Maude; you can carry this bag.

A Canadian bride recently went to the altar with a pet canary tethered to her neck by a gold chain. The bird perched on her shoulder, and during the ceremony burst into a glad song.

A girl baby born to the wife of Juda Grossman, of New York city, lately, has two extra fingers and one additional toe. On each hand there is a second little finger, and on the left foot there are six toes.

In Italian families children's nurses are considered the most important members of the household. They are well paid, petted, finely clothed, and all the other servants are expected to wait upon them.

A French lady of very elegant figure was recently asked why she always had such enormously stout servants. Her answer was characteristic: "To prevent their wearing my clothes when I am away from home."

A sentimental French jury acquitted a forger named Cloarec, at Cherbourg, recently, because he said he wanted the money to send his intended bride to Paris to undergo a surgical operation upon which her life depended.

JUST FOR FUN.

The quantity of diamond dust used in polishing a very large diamond has sometimes cost $5,000.

One pound of cork is said to be amply sufficient to support a man of ordinary size in the water.

"You insult a good dog," says the Manayunk philosopher, "when you speak of some people leading a dog's life."

A—Just think, Bertha has jilted me, and I'm disconsolate. Don't you know of some other girl without whom existence would be a blank for me?

He was a countryman and he walked along a busy thoroughfare, and read a sign over the door of a manufacturing establishment: "Cast-iron sinks." It made him mad. He said that any fool ought to know that.

"Your conduct is not nice, Emil. You invite me to take dinner with you in a restaurant and the moment we sit down you forget all about me and bury yourself in the newspapers." "Pardon, dear. Waiter, bring my wife a newspaper."

Little Johnny—Our school teacher is goin' to get married. I think there ought to be a law against school teachers gettin' married. Mother—Dear me! Why so? Little Johnny—Just think what a awful time their poor children will have.

First Villager—How do you like your new neighbor? Second Villager—Can't tell yet whether I like him or hate him. "Why so?" "The first thing he did was to put up a high board fence and I haven't been able to discover whether it is to keep his chickens in or my chickens out."

Recruit Pappel was sent by the sergeant to see what time it was. So far his education had no definite knowledge on this important subject. He comes back, salutes and then stretches his arms, one up and the other down, at about forty-five degrees angle. "Sergeant, the clock hands stand so."

SKETCHED FROM LIFE.

Governor Hoard tells a story of an Irishman who, going through a thick woodland, discovered a man in a sink hole in the morass and he rushed up to a drawling Yankee and shouted: "Come over for heaven's sake, there's a man in the morass!" "Is that so?" said the Yankee, "how far is he in?" "Well, sor, he's in up to the ankles." "Oh, well," said the Yankee, "He will get out." "No, sor, he won't, for be jabers I forgot to tell you he went in head first."

An old fellow from the back lots came into a Maine drug store not long ago bearing a big old-fashioned bottle which he wanted filled with sulphur and rum. He was very talkative, and before the proprietor could get in a word edgewise he went on to explain "This is allers the way I have fixed it. I have sulphur up to thar"—indicating with his finger a small space at the bottom of the bottle—"and the rest I have all rum. And this is the way I use it: When I want a dose 'f sulphur why I jes' shak'er up afore I drink, and when I don' wan' no sulphur, why I don' shak'er. See?"

Two men, not too well dressed, stood at the corner of Second and Jefferson streets, Louisville, the other morning. The face of neither wore an expression that would betoken feelings of happiness. Each one carried in his hand one of those small, square satchels with which book agents are always supplied. While waiting for a car this conversation passed: First Agent—Well, Harry, did you get an order to-day? Second Agent—Not an order. Will, I never saw people so crabbed in my life. How did you do? Did you get any orders? "Oh, did very well. I got an order every place I went to. They ordered me to [illegible] you know."

AN OFFICE DRAMA.

Why the Telegraph Editor Did Not Eat the Night Before Pay Day.

It was Friday night. The telegraph editor felt in his pocket and glanced contemplatively at his watch.

"What have they got to-night?" he said, finally addressing the assistant telegraph editor.

"Pork and beans, stewed tomatoes and apple pie," was the reply.

"And"——

"It's all right. Dead swell lay-out."

The telegraph editor ruminated and again felt in his pocket. Then he remembered a little indebtedness of twenty-five cents.

The copy boy entered.

"Take this to the assistant city editor, and be dod-gasted quick about it," said the telegraph editor. He handed the copy-boy a piece of paper, which looked like this:

25c.	WELL?	25c.
25c.		25c

The copy boy took the paper into the sporting editor's room, where he stopped to listen calmly to the arrangements for a prize fight. Then he went out into the area-way and threw paper wads at the watchman.

Then he went into the local room and threw a crumpled piece of paper on the desk of the assistant city editor.

"His Associated Press's sent that to yeh," he remarked, pushing the paper weight of the desk onto the toe of the Constant Reader.

The assistant city editor apologized to the Constant Reader and looked at the paper. Then he drew a half dollar from his pocket, carefully laid the paper over it and rubbed it with the butt end of his lead pencil. Underneath the rough fac-simile of the coin he wrote:

"Please send back the change."

"There; take that back, quick," said he.

The copy boy went into the dramatic editor's room and put a mustache on the latest photograph of Helen Mora. Eventually he reached the telegraph room and handed the paper to the telegraph editor. The telegraph editor studied it for a full minute. Then he remarked calmly:

"That's the grouchiest guy that ever struck this joint. He ain't even got manners enough to pretend that he's broke."

Mercurial Poison

Is the result of the usual treatment of blood disorders. The system is filled with Mercury and Potash remedies—more to be dreaded than the disease—and in a short while is in a far worse condition than before. The most common result is Rheumatism for which S. S. S. is the most reliable cure. A few bottles will afford relief where all else has failed.

I suffered from a severe attack of Mercurial Rheumatism, my arms and legs being swollen to more than twice their natural size, causing the most excruciating pains. I spent hundreds of dollars without relief, but after taking a few bottles of S.S.S. I improved rapidly, and am now a well man, completely cured. I can heartily recommend your wonderful medicine to anyone afflicted with this painful disease.

TOLSTOI.

And the Challenge He Threw Down to the Czar.

I dare say that many of my readers will have wondered how it is that the novelist, Count Tolstoi, should be permitted to profess such very socialistic and revolutionary doctrines in his writings without hindrance on the part of the Muscovite authorities, who have sent many another to the mines of Siberia for utterances in speech and print not one hundredth part as inflammatory as those of the count. In the first place several of his relatives hold high office both at court and in the government administration, one of his cousins being minister of the interior, while another is chief of the household to old Grand Duke Michael. When the novelist first commenced to write in his present incendiary fashion the emperor sent for him and urged him to desist.

"Will your majesty," answered Tolstoi, "doff for an instant your imperial mantle and judge my works, not as an autocrat, but as an ordinary man? If a single word of my writings offends your human sense I will cut off my right hand."

Alexander became thoughtful, did not reply, and affably took leave of the novelist, who, no matter what he has written, has ever since, by his majesty's orders, been treated with astounding immunity in connection with his socialistic writings. The czar, however, was unable to prevent him from being excommunicated for his heresy by the holy synod, of which M. Pobiedonotzoff is the chief.

Telephones in Church.

Supporters of the telephone system in Birmingham can now be placed in communication with Christ church in that city and practically take part in the services. The telephone wires run straight into the pulpit, and the listeners at the other end of the system can hear the tolling of the bell, the prayers, the responses, the singing, and the sermon. Even casual coughing among the congregation can be distinguished. There are many classes of persons on whom this new departure confers a great boon. The sick and bedridden, who have long been prevented from attending any place of worship, can now be present, if not in flesh, in the hearing.

Too Much for Her Pride.

A French conjuror, who was performing in Nantes, announced at a certain stage of the entertainment that his next trick would be to cut off the head of some one present, and he invited volunteers to come up and submit to the operation. Upon this a young man, "who was known to have quarreled recently with his fiance," presented himself with the resolution of despair, and everything had been made ready for his decapitation, when the lady, who was also present, broke into piercing screams, rushed onto the platform, seized her intended by the arm and dragged him from the hall.

ELECTION NOTICE.

OFFICE OF COUNTY CLERK }
JANESVILLE, OCTOBER, 24, 1894. }

To the electors of Rock county:

Notice is hereby given that a general election is to be held in the several towns, wards and election precincts in the county of Rock, on the sixth day of November, 1894, at which the offiers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to this office, and the questions submitted to a vote, are given opposite the name of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its approipiate column below.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS.

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters: A voter upon entering the polling place, and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk, which must have endorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, voter must retire, alone to a booth or compartment, and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for. The voter, if he wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party, should make a cross mark, X, under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the square made for that purpose. A ballot so marked, and having no other mark, will be counted for all of the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased, and will be counted for all names written in lieu of one erased or pasted over a printed name. If the voter wishes to vote for some of the candidates of different political parties, he should erase the names of the candidates he does not desire to vote for, and make a cross mark, X, after the name of each candidate he does desire to vote for. If he wishes to vote for a person for a certain office whose name is not on the ballot, he must write the name in the blank space under the printed name of the candidate for the office and make a cross, X, in the square at the right of it. The ballot should not be marked in any any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all to any one voter. Five minutes time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum, to assist the voter in marking his ballot, can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter. After it is marked, it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed endorsemnts and signatures of the ballot clerks on outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place. A voter who declares to the presiding officer, that he is unable to read or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers, in marking same, to be chosen by the voter. The presiding officer may administer an oath, in his discretion, as to such person's disability. The party designations and candidates for the different offices are as follows:
